

WESTERLY

The Westerly fire department was called out Wednesday evening shortly before 10 o'clock for an alarm from box 15 at the corner of Dayton and Pierce streets. Upon arriving, the firemen were directed to the Adams house on Pierce street, where a chimney fire was causing excitement. The blaze was slight and the damage negligible, but it took some time before the fire was finally extinguished with chemicals. All three of the Westerly companies responded to the alarm.

James Seena of Pierce street was arrested Wednesday night by Officers Ferguson and Chase of the Westerly police force, charged with assault on his wife, Eva Seena. She was taken to the station house on Union street and will probably be given a hearing at the regular session of the Third district court this (Friday) morning.

A large and interested audience listened to the instructive lecture given by Conde R. Patten, LL. D., of New York, Thursday evening at the Westerly high school under the auspices of Narragansett council, No. 21, K. of C. For his subject, Dr. Patten took "Carrying On." During his talk he illustrated the failure of holism and socialism and told how the liberty-loving people of this country should maintain their freedom. Dr. Patten is one of the most renowned speakers that has ever addressed a Westerly audience, and that the opportunity to hear him was appreciated as proved by the large audience which heard his words with such earnestness and attention.

The submarine N-2 from the submarine base at the Staten Island, N. Y., left for Watch Hill reef early Thursday afternoon, while maneuvering in company with two other underwater craft off Watch Hill. The submarine was in command of Lieut. Claude Farmer and carried a crew of 15 men.

The subs had been maneuvering about the point during the morning and were preparing to return to New London when the N-2 came too near the reef off the point and struck, landing high and dry on the rocks. No serious damage was done to the boat, but the accident was seen from coast guard station No. 58 at Watch Hill, and the life saving crew immediately set out in the power boat for the reef. It was found that the crew of the submarine were in no immediate danger and they were left on the stranded craft. It was hoped that a high tide might release the submarine, but at 3.30 it was still stranded, while the submarine N-1 stood by in case it was needed. It is probable that the N-2 may have to be towed off the rocks.

The accident happened very near the place where the Onondaga was stranded three years ago.

The submarine N-2 is one of the medium types of underwater boats, with a displacement of 347.9 tons. It was built in 1917.

Hawners from the N-7 and the oil boat Polaris from Block Island were fastened over the N-2 Thursday afternoon and all the power that could be produced failed to pull the N-2 from her position on the rocks. Renewed attempts later to dislodge the vessel were futile, and she rested where she struck late Thursday afternoon.

The thunder shower interfered to some extent with the bean supper last week Wednesday. Just as supper was about to be served a flash of lightning put the electric lights out of commission. Lamps, lanterns and flashlights were brought into service and after a few minutes delay a nice supper of beans, rolls, cabbage salad, cake and coffee was enjoyed. This was followed by an excellent program of vocal solos and duets and flute solos given by Miss Lois Caswell, C. H. Caswell and Arthur Clark of Willimantic with Mrs. C. H. Caswell as accompanist. The trouble with the lights was local and they were out about two and one-half hours, coming on again just as the program ended.

Mrs. W. F. Maine, Mrs. H. S. Maine, Mrs. H. P. Wood, Mrs. Charles Larrabee, Mrs. Abel Burnham, Mrs. Mason Bates and Mrs. Frank Wilcox were the hostesses. Among those from out of town at the supper were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Branch, Harry Branch, Mr. and Mrs. Will Arnold, Miss Green, Louis Arnold and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clark of Willimantic.

sentatives of these different organizations was held at the town hall Monday evening to consider the subject.

Sunday last automobiles carrying pleasure parties from out of town arrived at the center and deliberately drove over the lawn, which is now very soft, in front of James A. Utley's residence, so as to turn around and return, when they could easily have done so on the state road, amply wide enough there for that purpose. The village improvement society when formed is expecting to make rules and regulations governing travel over the green, also other necessary restrictions.

Monday Lucius Robinson was at his home cranking an automobile when the engine kicked, the crank striking him heavily on the wrist. On an examination in Willimantic by X-rays one of the bones in the wrist was found to be broken. The wrist was placed in a plaster cast, depriving him of the full use of his hand for two months.

The milk producers complain that milk trucks which they should receive the morning after their milk is taken by the milk company, which tickets state the amount of milk received, they do not receive for some time, and then not all of it. One man said that on the 8th of the month he received 10 tickets only for the previous month when he should have received 23. Another received only nine tickets when he should have received 23. The driver of the truck claiming to have been lost. As the tickets are the only means by which the milk producers know how much milk they are credited with, they cannot check up with the milk company's records in detail, so are obliged to accept their milk checks monthly for an amount determined solely by the company.

When Lucius Robinson arrived home from Willimantic Tuesday afternoon he found that two dogs had gotten among his flock of sheep, killing one and biting others. Neighbors had driven off the dogs and shot them.
